BUTCHER KNIFE ASSAULT PUTS MAN IN JAIL KILLING OF LOCAL MAN PROBED

DEADLY WEAPON ATTACK ENDS FAMILY FIGHT

Hartkopf Lodged in City Jail; Bail Is Fixed At $2500

Fred Hartkopf, 430 Twentieth street, is in the city jail, charged with assault with a deadly weapon as the climax to a family quarrel yesterday afternoon.

COUPLE QUARRELED
According to the police department, Hartkopf and his wife quarreled after which the husband left the house. Mrs. Hartkopf, accompanied by her son, Fred, Jr., 18, entered the Reliable Hardware store 2209 Macdonald avenue to cash a check.

QUARREL RESUMED
Hartkopf is said to have entered soon afterward and resumed the quarrel. According to William Casia, who was cashing the check Hartkopf attempted to strike his wife when she intervened.

SEIZES BUTCHER KNIFE
He then showed the boy backward and grabbing a large butcher knife from a shelf was about to stab the boy. It is said when Casia intervened, and ordered him out of the store.

$2500 BAIL FIXED
A warrant for the arrest was sworn to last night by Mrs. Kartkopf and the husband was lodged in the city jail in lieu of $2500 bail. He will appear before Judge C. A. Odell Monday.

Lions Club Will Survey "Sight" Of Children

The officers of the northern district of the Lions club met at Petaluma yesterday afternoon to discuss the coming convention of the Lions club at San Jose next June. The meeting was attended by J. O. Ford, Dan Reardon, and Claude Clark from Richmond.

The Lions will sponsor a survey of the eyesight of Richmond school children, and will also make arrangements to give needed aid to blind children of the city. The Lions are also the sponsors of the local Boy Scouts. The next meeting of the officers organization will be in Fresno, January. The northern district includes the territory from Eureka to San Francisco.

BILLY COLLINS HURT BY THROWING BASEBALL

Billy Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Collins, of 151 First street is confined to his bed as a result of a painful bump sustained when he was struck on the head by a baseball while at play. Dr. W. E. Cunningham is the attending physician, and states that his condition is not serious.

"Tear" Bride

ON THE EVE of her marriage to a taxi-driver, 16-year-old Anna Dehara (above), soda fountain clerk, eloped with Jack Jaffray, 20, of Irvington-on-Hudson, N. Y., caperace son of a millionaire. The marriage was the result of Jack's visit to the candy store for a chocolate sundae after being out on an all-night "tear." The heir to the Jaffray millions will find a chilly reception awaiting him if he returns to the family stronghold.

GARRARD RITES TO BE MONDAY

With the Point Lodge Free and Accepted Masons conducting the funeral ritual, fellow members of the Richmond city council, city officials, fraternal associates and hosts of friends of the late Edward J. Garrard will gather at the Wilson and Kratzer chapel tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock to pay their final respects to a member of the city governing body since Richmond was incorporated 22 years ago.

Following the services, the body will rest in the receiving vault in Sunset View cemetery until the (Continued on Page 3)

Arizona Lack Of Jail Facilities Are Remedied

MARTINEZ, Sept. 17. — Contra Costa and other bay district county jails will not be called upon to house federal prisoners convicted of liquor law violations in Arizona, according to W. P. McNair, chief deputy United States marshal today.

In May, 1926, with Arizona jails crowded to capacity, federal officials found it necessary to bring prisoners to San Francisco Bay district county jails. Contra Costa county received an assignment of 25 prisoners, some of whom were sentenced to terms of three years. Arizona has remedied its lack of jail facilities and there is little prospect of California prisons being called upon to supply accommodations again, the marshal declares.

McNair came here to return Steve Goyan, a federal prisoner, to Arizona to complete his sentence of 25 months and to allow him to make appearance in a civil suit.

ATTORNEYS TO FILE APPEAL IN LOUGHEED CASE

Engineer Takes Verdict Stoically; Sentence Given Tomorrow

MARTINEZ, Sept. 17. — With Victor Lougheed, 50, San Francisco consulting engineer and widely known as an inventor and author on aviation subjects, convicted by a jury of a charge of assault with intent to commit a statutory offense, defense counsel was today preparing notice of an appeal to be presented to Superior Judge H. V. Alvarado Monday afternoon, when Lougheed appears for sentence. The law provides an indeterminate term of from one to 25 years for the offense of which Lougheed was convicted.

NEW TRIAL DENIED
Attorneys Morgan J. Doyle and W. J. Cullinan, counsel for Lougheed, presented a motion for a new trial but it was denied by the court. Later they announced that an appeal would be taken and that notice would be given when Lougheed appears for sentence.

LOUGHEED STOICAL
Lougheed took the verdict stoically. His wife, here for the afternoon session of court, was not present when the verdict was read. Deputy District Attorney James F. Hoey, who conducted the prosecution, declared that a search for the Leighton girl, sought since her non-appearance, would be continued.

GIRL HUNTED
The latter was effected after Hoey and Deputy Sheriff J. W. Smiley had presented affidavits citing that due diligence had been pursued in search of the witness and in which they charged that the girl had been threatened and intimidated.

The girl claimed that Lougheed had persuaded her to accompany him in his automobile from Berkeley into the Contra Costa hills and that he there attacked her after pursuing her following an attempt to escape his attentions.

CAR WAS CLUE
Making her way aloft into Berkeley the girl reported the occurrence to the police and Contra Costa authorities were notified. The search for Lougheed was on the type of car he was driving. Authorities found they were only eleven of the description in the state and checking each owner out finally caused the arrest of Lougheed.

The jury in its first balloting is said to have stood nine for conviction of a statutory charge, two for conviction of an attempt to commit a statutory charge and one for acquittal.

Realtors And Kiwanians To Deluge Ball Park With Gore

With raucous cheers of hate, an organization has penetrated the organized guarded domains of the Service Club League that constitutes a dangerous triple threat and has been the motif of several conferences between moguls of both Lions and Kiwanis clubs during the past week.

REALTORS PRIMED
The Realtors though wary at first of playing at the First street ball park, because it seemed to acknowledge approval of the free lot scheme, at last have thrown scruples to the nadir of forgotten winds and have come out in the open with a challenge to the Kiwanis aggregation to meet their heavy hitting, Bambino renowned, team of nine next Tuesday.

16,000 GALLONS OF DENATURED ALCOHOL 'GONE'

"Evaporation" Cited As
Prove Fails To Show
Trace of Stock

MARTINEZ, Sept. 17. — Sixteen thousand gallons of denatured alcohol that "disappeared" from the storage tanks of the Philippine Refining Corporation at Point Pablo, near Richmond, during the past year, were the subject of superior court suit today by Mrs. Leonora Mason, wife of one of the former owners of the Mason Distilleries of Sausalito to collect damages of $8234.

TO FILE SECOND SUIT
A second suit over the alleged "evaporation" of an additional 7410 gallons of denatured alcohol from the Point Pablo tanks will be filed within a week according to L. C. Pistolesi, San Francisco attorney, who brought the action in behalf of Mrs. Mason. The action will be filed for the Bank of San Rafael.

STORED IN 1926
Mrs. Mason, a dealer in denatured alcohol for market distribution, Pistolesi explained, stored 16,468 gallons in the Philippine Refining Corporation's Point Pablo tanks early in 1926.

CLAIM OF "CONVERSION"
The suit merely sets up a claim of "conversion", but the attorney declared that recently when a customer was found for the alcohol it was discovered that it had "disappeared." Pistolesi asserts that company officials explained that an error had probably been made in delivery to the consignee.

"EVAPORATION" CITED
Company officials told him, Pistolesi says, that the alcohol on which the bank's projected suit would be filed must have evaporated as no trace of it could be found.

"Too High," Sez He, Including Stores, Cop

Merchants of the city had an unusual shopper visit their establishments yesterday, who after being shown merchandise, stalked out of the store.

Nothing unusual about that, as many shoppers with time to kill do the same thing every day in the week.

But here is what this shopper did.

He entered the La Franz Motor company and inquired the price of an automobile. When informed that it would cost him to ride in one of their latest models, he replied: "Too high." And left the salesrooms after leaving his card which bore the legend: Peter George Bozovich, Box No. 53, Broadway, Burlingame.

His next visit was to W. J. Richards, of whom he asked the cost of borrowing money. When informed the interest rate, he replied: "Too high," and declared that he would take the matter up with the state authorities. He left Richards one of his cards and left the real estate office.

He entered several other establishments along Macdonald avenue always declaring that their goods were "too high," and leaving one of his cards, with which he was plentifully supplied.

Then Patrolman Allan J. Cundy came down the street. Bozovich told him that he was "too high" and gave Cundy one of his cards. The officer escorted him to the first approaching car and told him to leave the city.

POWER FIRM IS NAMED IN SUIT

MARTINEZ, Sept. 17. — Charging that negligence of the defendant resulted in the electrocution of Charles Fox in Alvarado Park, Richmond, on February 22, five brothers and sisters of Fox today filed suit here against the Western States Gas & Electric Company seeking a damage judgment of $10,000. In addition to the damage verdict $400 is asked for funeral expenses.

The suit charges that Fox came in contact with power wire of 2-300 volts capacity and alleges his death was due to company carelessness.

The plaintiffs in the action are William J. and James P. Fox, Anna Abdale, Mary Sala and Mrs. W. N. Pearce.

Local Elks Hold First "Ladies Night" Event

The first Ladies Night event of the Richmond lodge of Elks was held last night with a dance in the clubrooms. Music for the event was furnished by the Syncope Six of Crockett. The rooms were artistically decorated for the occasion. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight when refreshments were served by a committee headed by W. J. Richards.

The next big event of the local lodge will be the boat ride on September 25. The Elks have chartered the Richmond-San Rafael ferry; Sonoma Valley which will take the members and their friends on a tour of San Francisco and San Pablo bays. W. F. Wilson is chairman of the committee in charge of the event.

The clubrooms of the local Elks have been newly decorated and furnished and more than 150 couples enjoyed the dancing last night. The committee assisting Richards in planning the event was composed of J. C. Nelson, Tom Duggan, C. R. Switzer, E. A. Hoffman, William McNell, Herbert Dunkel and Lawrence Courts.

IDENTIFICATION OF BODY MADE IN SANTA ROSA

Sequel To Shooting Of Wife of Man Now In Jail Revealed

Police of Santa Rosa, are probing the slaying of William Fagola, 25, former cobbler of North Richmond, whose bullet-riddled body was found last Tuesday near Redding.

SEQUEL TO SHOOTING
With the identification of the man, a sequel to the shooting of Mrs. Anna Astorino by her husband, Vincenzo Astorino at Santa Rosa several weeks ago, was revealed yesterday.

The body was first believed to be that of John Grandi, brother of Mrs. Astorino.

IDENTIFICATION MADE
Positive identification was made yesterday by Chief of Police Mike Flohr of Santa Rosa and the Catnatti family, following the location of Grandi.

It was Fagola who was named by Astorino as the one who had won the affections of his wife. The woman and Fagola are said to have left Richmond for Petaluma with Mrs. Astorino continuing to the home of her parents near Santa Rosa and Fagola securing work on a farm near Petaluma.

Astorino located his wife and sent five bullets through her body. He was given a sentence of one year in jail when he was convicted in the Sonoma county superior court. It was stipulated that (Continued on Page Six)

RICHARD DIX IN POWERFUL FILM AT RICHMOND

Automobiles, airplanes, motor-boats and even bicycles have furnished the background for motion picture drama, but until Richard Dix began "Man Power" for Paramount the lumbering caterpillar tractor had never been "glorified" in films. Only an imaginative scenario writer who had been through the war could see possibilities in them. The results will be on view at the Richmond Theatre today.

"Man Power" is not a war picture, although there is a flash of the battlefield to indicate that Richard Dix had been an officer before reaching the lowly state of a box car wanderer hopefully looking for a job. Glimpses of Mary Brian, beautiful daughter of the president of the Stoddard Manufacturing Company, starts him on a career as a mechanic.

What he does with a tractor after that is startling. To save the inhabitants of a valley from the menace of a broken dam, Dix pulls supplies through a rain storm over a slippery road, over ditches, up mountain sides, across a plateau and into a gulch. Ordinarily, cameramen are not excitable, but Ed Cronjager and the others engaged on "Man Power" admit they would rather photograph jungle animals than a tractor on a rampage. A lion, for instance, can be shot when he gets out of control, but a tractor will shed bullets as well as rain, and anything that gets in its way is doomed.

Dix admits he was glad when it was finished. Other film features include "Which Is Which," an Excuse Maker comedy; and a Grantland Rice "Spotlight."

EASTERN ACTS AT CALIFORNIA

A big attraction from The East booked over the big time circuits will be the "stellar act" on the California Bill of Varieties today with "High Hat," featuring Ben Lyon and Mary Brian, as the screen feature.

"Broadway Brevities" featuring Ed Lewis the well-known Musical Comedy Comedian and Company of Eleven Artists is the act in question and whilst this smart combination hold the stage there is something doing every minute. A bevy of beauty with the latest song hits and novelty ensembles is the background for this well constructed and snappy revue and the girls certainly catch the eye for pep and grace solo specialties are their forte and their work in line is something to commend.

Lewis and a competent cast of principals handle the comedy end of the program to a nicely. This tricky funster has some clever stories a wealth of comedy bits and situations of a humorous character that are sure laugh-winners.

Michael another big time artist specializes in Musical novelties with the xylophone his feature instrument. With perfect technique he displays his unobdurate talents in a series of worth while numbers whilst he adds some novelty in a clever manner. Hagen and Lowell in Character comedy bits with Hagen doing Italian comedy and his partner supplying the song and dance hits. Milton Colburg a young dispenser of humorous impressions is also to be reckoned with when it comes to laughs and applause.

RICHMOND HAS MARY BRIAN IN DEMURE ROLE

they say it is to be forever vamp-ing.

"High Hat" was directed by the author, James Creelman, and "shot" by Billy Schurz, Kane's crack cameraman.

Other features include "Careless Hubby," a Cameo comedy; Fox News Weigle's Californians; Larry Canelo, at the organ; and four big acts of West Coast Theatres vaudeville.

"Wendy" has grown up and Mary Brian, whom film fans had always associated with sweet, demure roles has blossomed into a sparkling, sophisticated actress in "High Hat." Robert Kane's bar-league of the movies, now showing at the California Theatre.

Concluded with Ben Lyon and Sam Hardy in this James A. Creelman story of the studios, Miss Brian clothed herself in a brand new character, that of a slangy, worldly-wise little boss of a movie picture lot's wardrobe, and New York's critics are raving about the change.

When Mary and Ben Lyon go into a love scene the "Peter Pan" platonic pose of this winsome little lady from Dallas, Texas, are declared, and one would swear it's a different woman on the screen.

Miss Brian herself was overjoyed at the change given her by Robert Kane to break away from the "type" roles she had been playing and venture into a new characterization.

"I was almost afraid I wasn't ever going to be allowed to be human again on the screen," just as boring being a prim and proper person in picture after picture, as

"High Hat" was directed by the author, James Creelman, and "shot" by Billy Schurz, Kane's crack cameraman.

Other features include "Careless Hubby," a Cameo comedy; Fox News Weigle's Californians; Larry Canelo, at the organ; and four big acts of West Coast Theatres vaudeville.

"Wendy" has grown up and Mary Brian, whom film fans had always associated with sweet, demure roles has blossomed into a sparkling, sophisticated actress in "High Hat." Robert Kane's bar-league of the movies, now showing at the California Theatre.

Concluded with Ben Lyon and Sam Hardy in this James A. Creelman story of the studios, Miss Brian clothed herself in a brand new character, that of a slangy, worldly-wise little boss of a movie picture lot's wardrobe, and New York's critics are raving about the change.

When Mary and Ben Lyon go into a love scene the "Peter Pan" platonic pose of this winsome little lady from Dallas, Texas, are declared, and one would swear it's a different woman on the screen.

Miss Brian herself was overjoyed at the change given her by Robert Kane to break away from the "type" roles she had been playing and venture into a new characterization.

"I was almost afraid I wasn't ever going to be allowed to be human again on the screen," just as boring being a prim and proper person in picture after picture, as they say it is to be forever vamp-ing.

GARRARD RITES TO BE MONDAY

new Sunset mausoleum has been completed. Hiram E. Jacobs will be master of ceremonies at the rites.
Mayor Mattie Chandler announced yesterday that only matters of urgent importance will be taken up by the city council Monday night and that the meeting will be adjourned out of respect for the deceased member of the council. A resolution of condolence in the death of Garrard will be passed before adjourning.
Deep sorrow and sympathy and an expression of readiness to render any assistance was continued in a telegram received today from Rev. W. P. Grant, pastor of the First Methodist church on the West Side, now visiting at Sacramento. The telegram follows:
Mrs. Chandler: Express sincerest sympathy to Mrs. Garrard and family in their great sorrow of the transition of Mr. Garrard from labor to reward, from pain to land of no pain. Wire Regis Hotel for any service I can render. Will come any time if needed.

These Sox And no Others have this amazing feature
Wear is Multiplied 3 to 4 Times

Just at the tip and over the top of the toe — where wear is hardest — Holeproof introduces a specially processed thread. This reinforcing — which is done so cleverly that it can scarcely be seen, and cannot be felt at all when the sock is on the foot — is called the Holeproof Ex Toe.
Hundreds of tests were made to determine the durability of this feature. A special testing machine was built to register the wear-resisting qualities of hosiery fabric. It moves a file briskly back and forth over the toe of the sock, each oscillation being tabulated on a meter. This machine proved conclusively that the Ex Toe multiplied wear three to four times.
Millions of men today find the answer to their hose problem in the Ex Toe. In a variety of materials, lustrous liles, silk faced, and pure thread silk numbers; in a range of the most popular shades; at prices no higher than ordinary brands; style for style the Ex Toe is America's smartest and most economical sock.

MYSTERY TEAM OF CAL. LOOKS GOOD FOR 1927

By KING WILKIN

BERKELEY, Sept. 17.—The events behind the barred gates of California's Memorial Stadium during the first practice sessions of the Golden Bears lend credence to the circulating rumors that California is the 1927 "Mystery Team."

Nibs Price, coaching here for his second year, is wasting no time in searching for a winning combination and he means to win for he has said, "We took 'em on the loose last year—Heaven, help the fellow this year that handed 'em to us."

In their first practice sessions the Bears have shown power, speed and the promise of a wonderfully diversified attack.

In Ben Lom, sophomore half-back, Price has a triple threat man who will undoubtedly develop into one of the west's greatest football players. He kicks, passes and totes the ball in a manner which at once reminds the spectator of Arch Nishit, Jimmy Dixon and Ted Imlay.

Lom is fast and elusive. In last year's freshman game against Stanford he ran half the length of the field on several occasions through the entire Stanford team.

Howard Jones, head coach at U. S. C., regards the Bear backfield material as the best in the conference and his assistant Aubrey Devine, former all-American, said of the sophomore backs, who graduated from Clint Evan's 1926 freshmen, "They were the best set of freshmen backs on the coast last year."

Barring injuries, Price will have the greatest assortment of heavy artillery that a California team has had since 1920-21, the days of Arch Nishit, Pesky Sprott and Duke Morrison and Charley Erb.

JAPANESE CAGE TEAM TO TOUR UNITED STATES

BERKELEY, Sept. 17.—The first Japanese basketball team ever to visit the United States will arrive in San Francisco about December 15 for a barnstorming tour which will probably include a series of games with the University of California.

William W. Moahan, graduate manager of California, was today notified of the projected trip by F. H. Brown, coach of the Waseda team, which is considered the best in Japan.

In requesting a place on the California schedule, the Waseda coach said, "As you no doubt know, Waseda is Japan's ranking team. But our idea in coming to America is not to teach but to be taught and therefore to improve the standard of the game in the East."

Brown said that his team will stay in the United States until February 15, playing as many games as possible on the Pacific Coast.

Waseda and Keio, its sister University, are the Yale and Harvard of Japan. Both schools have been represented in this country by baseball teams during several occasions and the University of California had games with both during the Bears' tour of the Orient last summer.

Basketball, while not a new sport in the Orient, has been superceded

Golf Tourney Of Local Elks Opens

The Richmond Elks third annual tournament started off with a bang yesterday giving one of the biggest surprises of the year. Constable A. A. Alstrom, classed as one of the best players in the lodge went down to a smashing defeat to Tom Duggan, 8 up and 7 to go. A. P. Hill won his match with Roy Eakle, 3 up and 3 to go.

The flights are expected to be played off today as all scores are to be in the hands of the committee by tomorrow night. More interest has been created in this tourney than either of the two preceding. The members are playing off on links of their own choosing, although the majority have selected the Carquinez course.

In popularity until the past two or three years by baseball, the Japanese, the Waseda coach says, play a brand of basketball that is of necessity somewhat different from that played in this country. The Japanese are small and depend in the main upon their cat-like swiftness. A Japanese when dribbling is but three or four feet from the floor.

It will be a strange sight to see a Waseda center jumping against Vern Corbin, California's varsity center who is an even six feet high and weighs in the neighborhood of 180 pounds.

SANNIES PLAY ANTIOCH THREE C TITLE

Today on the Brentwood diamond the championship of the second half and probably the championship of the Three C League will be decided when the Antioch "Sannies" play off the tie for first place.

Richmond won the first half and should it win Sunday's contest it will be the champion of the Three C League for 1927.

However, should the "Merchants" upset the dope and defeat the "Oil City" team, a three game series to decide the championship will be necessary.

On past records the "Sannies" should win the game.

All in all the game should be one of the best that the fans in Contra Costa county have had chance to witness in a good many years.

"Lefty" Anderson on the mound he has picked a team all ready to for the "River City" boys will be opposed by the star of the "Sannies" outfit, Roland Roberts.

Dougall Hardware Play Yountville

Archie Kimble's Dougall Hardware store is going to Yountville to play today. Archie says that while the Yountville aggregation is reported a strong outfit, the local team will give them a hard game and hope to return victorious.

MADIGAN SENDS MEN THROUGH STIFF WORKOUT

If the veteran members of the St. Mary's 1928 football squad had any illusions concerning the opening days of practice, those illusions were rather rudely shattered when official practice opened at the Oakland college yesterday afternoon.

In past years "Slip" Madigan devoted the opening days of the fall workouts to conditioning his men and to a review of fundamentals. Real work with scrimmages did not come until for into the second week of practice.

However, with the Stanford game on October 1, Madigan, who gave his men orders to report in condition, had his three teams running signals and plays right from the jump, and before the afternoon was far advanced the picked first string was busy in scrimmage with the second team.

"Slip" has made another departure this year, in so far as the "River City" boys will be start the season with. There will be no experiments no shifting of players until later, for Madigan is anxious to start all his experienced men against Stanford and California.

In fact, in his first string line yesterday Madigan had Franklan and Jack Scarlett at ends, Tobin and Hicks at tackles, Mulcahy and Hilla at guards, and Captain Larry Bettencourt at center. This line, with the exception of Mulcahy and Scarlett, is identical with that which started against California last season.

Ed Sullivan's SPORT WHIRL

TILDEN TAKES IT ON THE SHIN

If they played tennis on horseback the Davis would still be housed in this country.

It seems to be generally conceded that the aged big legs of Big Bill Tilden, and the aged small legs of Little Bill Johnston, were not equal to the task of keeping in step with the agile legs of La Coste and they spry limbs of Cochet.

Tilden and Johnston are in their tottering thirties and the legs take it on the shins, soon after they pass the 30-mile mark. In polo, they have a means of saving the underpinning.

Otherwise Devereux Milburn, at 46, could not make younger British players look quite helpless indeed on the emerald green surface of Meadowbrook.

Tilden and Johnston, in their thirties, are through as champions.

Milburn, at 46, is looking ahead to the 1930 series with England.

The legs of Milburn have not been subjected to rough usage. Great polo ponies have passed from the lists since he started his career as an internationalist, crippled from polo, and he'll never hook the garters of retirement to Devereux's underpinning.

If the stories told of Dempsey's condition are true, Jack could use a horse in the ring at Chicago.

The only horse to be found out there will be the one mounted by Tex Rickard. He got it from Jesse James.

TENNIS ELITE ADOPTS THE RASPBERRY

You can go into the highways and by-ways and find little, if any, concern over the fact that the French won the Davis Cup.

"It's good for the sport," seems to be the attitude of the ordinary sporting fan, who has never attended a tennis match at Forest Hills or Germantown, but who inclines instead to Madison Square Garden and Ebbets Field and the Queensboro on fight nights.

In fact the fight fans took the loss of the Davis Cup in much more gracious mood than those who exhibit their sportsmanship at the tennis stadium.

Along Broadway the consensus of opinion was that the loss of the Davis Cup was a good thing for tennis.

I understand from the daily prints that the society patrons of tennis gave every thing, including the Bronx cheer, to the Frenchmen at Germantown.

Umpire Paul Gibbons was constantly distressed by the biased attitude of the gallery: "Please be quiet," begged Gibbons and some one under Portal A. emitted a raucous raspberry. They say it was a baseball fan who had strayed in there under the impression the Phillies were playing Boston, but this is to be doubted.

If the social elite of the country are to indulge in the succulent raspberry, our social edifice totters on its brink.

As Francis Albertini so aptly puts it: "There are Chinese wet wash laundries where the River Shannon flows."

Calling to mind the fact that the French sacrificed Nungesser and Coll, and yet were gallant enough to rave over Lindbergh, the attitude of the social lions at Germantown calls for a laugh at that.

BRONX CHEER CRASHES SOCIETY

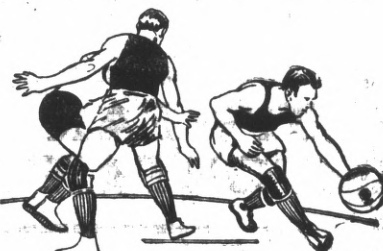

The entrance of the Bronx cheer and its girl friend the Raspberry, into the saloons of Park Avenue and Chestnut Hills a significant social phenomenon.

Now that Mrs. G. Chesterfield Sloan-Van Rensselaer has placed the stamp of approval upon the Bronx cheer and the raspberry, you will probably find the twain identified with all society functions.

Gatti-Casazza, stepping upon the stage at Otto Kahn's arena, and announcing that Jeriza is unable to sing the title role, will hear boos and taunts floating down from the horseshoe. The boos will come from the box occupied by Mrs. G. Chesterfield Sloan-Van Rensselaer and her son, J. G. M. O. Sloan-Van Rensselaer, 34. The raspberries will come from the Rumson, N. J. colony in Box 48.

The artists are not vegetarians; lay off the raspberries.

'PHONE HELPS JUDGE TO FOIL BURGLAR GUEST

That Police Judge W. E. Langdon of Marysville appreciates the value of the telephone in emergencies is proved by his recent exciting experience.

During the summer months Langdon sleeps in the yard back of his house, a fact unknown to burglars who innocently chose his property for their personal exploitation. While the judge watched, one of the burglars hopped the fence and tried the windows and doors of the house while the other stood lookout. As the prowlers went around the house, Judge Langdon slipped inside by the back door and telephoned the police, who arrived in a few moments in an armored car. The men fled before the police reached the scene, but were captured in short order.

CHESTERFIELD FAME SPREAD

From a small shop and salesroom with three workers, established three years ago to an up-to-date factory employing 75 people, is the growth of the Bell Chesterfield company with salesrooms at 520 Eleventh street, Oakland.

The history of the development of the Chesterfield is one of the most interesting phases of the furniture industry. Philip Dunne Stanhope, otherwise Lord Chesterfield, gentleman of letters, essayist, politician, diplomat and statesman, who always demanded the best, designed the piece of furniture now known as the "Chesterfield."

This piece of furniture has been refined and improved until today it is almost universally recognized as a necessity and an essential decoration for every home.

But it was James B. Bell, a wall bed manufacturer who conceived the idea of a bed that could be designed so that a person could sleep in it every night and get up from it fresh every morning refreshed with rest such as would be possible only with a "four poster" with modern mattress and springs. Bell's idea was to develop a piece of furniture that would be more than a comfortable and convenient bed, but a decoration and attractive piece of furniture as well.

The invention of the Bell Chesterfield bed was the result of his study. That this piece of furniture was the ideal solution to the problem of building a "room saving bed" is proven by the sales for nine months in 1926, which exceeded $396,815.25.

To care for the growing demand for Bell Chesterfield beds, salesrooms have been opened in Los Angeles, Oakland and San Francisco.

The factory-to-consumer plan, the only sales policy of this company, has put a costly article within the reach of people of moderate means.

On Coast-To-Coast Flight!

The Kiwanians alleged that this careful attention to detail might be misconstrued to mean that the realtors intended to start a baseball park annex and demanded to know their intentions.

GUILT EVIDENCED
Several of the realtor delegates to the conference were observed to show their guilt. It is said, by all the well known fictional means of confessing an uneasy conscience, viz, dropping the eyes, without picking them up, looking down in the mouth without discovering anything, and hanging the head without a fatality.

Pursuing their old custom the Kiwanians have refused to announce their lineup.

ASSAULT CITED
"The reason for this step is evident," W. L. "Doc" Seawright, Kiwanis manager declared firmly.

"We once announced what men would appear on our team and several were subjected to a brutal 'beating up' before they had a chance to demonstrate their prowess on the field. In fact, we only have to point out the brutal assault made on 'Doc' Root, one of our team's strongest members before the last struggle with the Lions. That is one reason why we lost the game. Of course the weather was bad, several of our men were ill, we had practiced too much, and the umpire was crooked; all these things had to do with our defeat."

"The weather report says that next Tuesday will be fine," interposed Paul Adkins, manager for the realtors.

"UMPIRE" NEEDED
"Well, if the weather's fine, something else will be wrong," retorted Seawright aggressively. "It always is, unless we get GOOD umpire who's related to one on our team, and who is absolutely on the square."

The realtors have announced their lineup as follows: O. J. Ripley, 1b; Caulton, ss; R. Hays, 2b; E. Burg, 3b; Spurr, cf; Crane, rf; Baird, lf; Settle, c; J. Burg, p; Bolt and Ripley, utility men.

REALTORS AMBITIOUS
"We don't expect to beat the Kiwanians by more than 40-0," Adkins said breezily. "Harry Plate, our Babe Ruth and all around man, is ill and there are several little things like the we—"

"Hey," objected another realtor, "don't say weather. The Kiwanians have gloomed that already as an alibi."

After the Kiwanis encounter the realtors will take on the fast Lions team Friday.

IDENTIFICATION OF BODY MADE IN SANTA ROSA

Fagiola's whereabouts were investigated following identification of photographs of the murdered man by Astorino. It was disclosed by former neighbors of Fagiola and the Astorines in North Richmond that the former had not been seen in this vicinity since the shooting in Santa Rosa.

Authorities at first acted on the theory that young Grandi had been slain. The youth was known to have secured a truck in the bay region and drove in the northern part of the state. A truck with license number thought similar to the one on Grandi's truck, was found near the ravine where the body was discovered.

This theory was exploded by Grandi's father, who declared the photographs taken were not those of his son. The next day the young man met his father on a Santa Rosa street.

At the ranch where Fagiola worked near Petaluma, it was disclosed that several days ago the former Richmond man had left for the northern part of the state on a vacation. Belief was expressed that he would not have had the opportunity of driving a truck while there and authorities have launched a probe into his ownership. No arrests had been made.

FORD STATEMENT STABILIZES MARKET

NEW CAR TO BE PRODUCED ON LIMITED SCALE

By RAY PRIEST
(By Universal Service)
DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 17.—Better automobiles are being offered for fall buying by almost every motor car manufacturer. Combined with the stimulant of lowered prices by most of the makers, sales are expected to show large increases during August and September.

FORD PLANS FACTORY
Motor car manufacturers in this territory have gained courage to continue manufacturing on their previously arranged schedules calling for increases in production during the next two months by the publication of Henry Ford's intention to start building his new car on an extremely limited introductory plan.

NEW FORD CAUSES FLURRY
The report regarding the new

Ford light eight caused a flurry among medium priced car makers. Others said they had expected something of the kind because of a statement given out by the motor magnate last spring that he would build a "car for every family need and purse."

What other cars that are coming in the Ford line seem to be known to the manufacturer and his closest aids alone.

RUMOR AFLOAT
A rumor persists in Detroit that Ford has employed C. Harold Willis, formerly head of the Willis-St. Claire company, of Marysville, Mich., and formerly an executive in the Ford organization, to build "the finest six cylinder car possible."

The writer is inclined to believe the possibility of this action as he was once told by Henry Ford that "Willis is undoubtedly the finest automobile engineer I have ever known." This statement came after Ford had been questioned regarding a report at that time that he had re-employed Willis.

ADMITTS INTERVIEW
Ford further admitted that Willis had been out to see him, he refused to state whether he would ever consider hiring the engineer-supervisor of sales for the Oakland Motor Car Co.

FALCON-KNIGHT PLACES RECORD ON SPEEDWAY

At the state fairgrounds in Milwaukee in competition against entries representing all popular makes of automobiles of all price ranges, a Falcon-Knight roadster maintained an average speed of better than a mile a minute in the 25-mile mid-west event. More than 5000 persons witnessed the Falcon-Knight victory in its initial race track entry, according to Harry Semar, local dealer.

The Falcon-Knight, piloted by Carl Marchese, covered the 25 mile on the one-mile dirt track in 24 minutes 23.4 seconds, at an average speed of 61 1/2 miles an hour.

Eleven other cars competed in the stock car race but the steady speed of the Falcon-Knight proved too strong for the competition. Time and again as the Falcon-Knight came out onto the track and the home stretches the sudden burst of speed amazed the thousands of spectators.

Marchese maintained a high rate of speed even on the turns, the low swinging Falcon-Knight fairly hugging the dirt track with no signs of swerving from its course. The fast acceleration enabled the driver to ward off all challenges, the Falcon-Knight responding in every instance to the demands of the driver.

At the conclusion of the race the Falcon-Knight engine was purring as smoothly as at the start, the motor showing no signs of over-heating.

The very start of the race gave an outstanding example of the fast acceleration of the Falcon-Knight. The cars were lined up in front of the judges stand and from a standing start the Falcon-Knight leaped into the lead and never was headed in its dash for first honors.

Commenting on this notable Falcon-Knight victory, John A. Nichols, Jr., president of the Falcon Motors corporation, Detroit, builders of this line of Knight engine cars said:

"This latest achievement of a car employing a Knight sleeve valve engine adds to the laurels already won by this type of motor on the race tracks. It was but a few months ago that a Knight powered Voisin broke two world's records in France maintaining an average speed of 127.54 miles an hour in a 100-kilometre race, and 128.54 miles an hour in a 100-mile grind."

Closer Contact With West Attained By Oakland Motor Car Company by Appointment

Appointment of Louis M. Dreyer as Pacific Coast supervisor of sales for the Oakland Motor Car company has been announced by W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales. The position which Dreyer will occupy is a new one in the Oakland Pontiac sales scheme. Working under E. M. Lubeck, western sales manager for the Oakland Motor Car company, Dreyer will have direct supervision of Oakland-Pontiac activities in California, Oregon, Nevada, Washington, Idaho, Utah, Arizona, Colorado, and the western half of Montana. Under his jurisdiction will be the district offices already operated by Oakland-Pontiac in Denver, Butte, Seattle and San Francisco, and the new sales plan contemplates the opening of a Los Angeles district office in the near future.

LINKS WEST

Desire to establish a closer contact with the Oakland-Pontiac dealer organization in the west led to the creation of the new post which will hold, according to Mr. Tracy's announcement. The past two years have seen an immense growth in the number of Oakland-Pontiac dealers in the western states. It is believed that a decidedly greater efficiency in handling sales problems in the west will be made possible under the new system, for it will eliminate many delays which the great distance of the factory from the Pacific Coast has imposed in the past.

VETERANS IN AUTO WORLD
In selecting Louis M. Dreyer for the new position as Pacific Coast supervisor, the Oakland factory chose a real veteran of the automotive industry and one whose experience has qualified him particularly well for the post. Dreyer's experience in the automotive industry began when he was 17, he entered the Morgan & Wright tire factory. In 1904, from factory drawings, he built the first Morgan & Wright automobile tire.

Introduction Of New Line Is Prepared For By J. P. Strom

J. P. Strom is completely refitting the salesrooms at 1221 Macdonald avenue preparatory to introducing a new line of automobiles in Richmond. The improvements are nearing completion and shortly Strom will announce his new agency.

According to A. F. Anderson, local manager for Strom, the new line will be in keeping with the progress of Richmond and the demand here for cars of the better type. Painting and decorating of the salesroom have been under way for the past two weeks and will provide a suitable display room in keeping with the new line of cars.

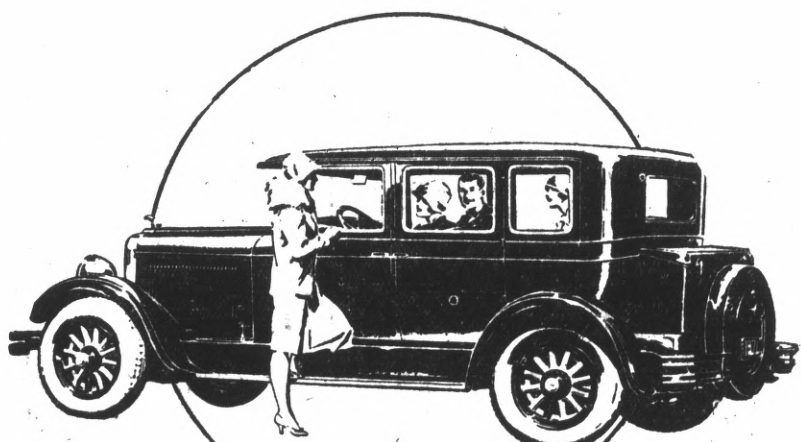

"I have been so long in business here that I would not trust my reputation among my friends on anything but the best car which I could secure. I am satisfied that my business relations here have earned me the confidence of a large number of automobile owners. I will attempt to further justify that confidence by the introduction of a new line of automobiles here," was the statement of Strom.

KNOWS TERRITORY

In January 1919, Dreyer became branch manager in Chicago for Chevrolet. Two years later Chevrolet placed him in charge of their St. Louis branch, and a year later sent him to Oakland, California, as member of the factory sales organization there. In that capacity he became familiar with much of the territory over which the Oakland-Pontiac line is sold.

Sales Grow In Evidence Of Popularity Of Chevrolet Car

August sales totals revealed that the Pacific Slope is doing its share toward keeping Chevrolet in full stride to its goal of a million cars for 1927, says Harry G. Golden, Richmond dealer. Figures that showed last month to be the biggest August in the history of the West Coast Chevrolet organization were waiting for Regional Manager E. W. Fuhr when he returned from Butte, Montana. The totals for August of 1926, hitherto the biggest year in Chevrolet sales, were more than doubled by those of August of this year, and the reports for the first week of September indicate that this month will exceed August by a very decisive margin. The end of the vacation season always brings a stimulus to the automobile trade, and it promises to result in September totals even more gratifying to Chevrolet officials than those of August.

"The middle of last month saw Chevrolet production figures pass those of the entire year of 1926," said Golden yesterday. "That left four and one half months for Chevrolet to attain the 270,000 remaining cars that will give it a production of a million cars for the current year."

"Announcement of a reduction in the price of the Chevrolet Imperial landau brought a very gratifying response in sales of this model which has already proved one of the most popular of the entire line. We could not be better pleased with the outlook for Chevrolet business for the remainder of 1927."

GERMAN ROAD-BUILDING

Germany is planning improvement of 9,000 miles of highway connecting every important city, according to reports.

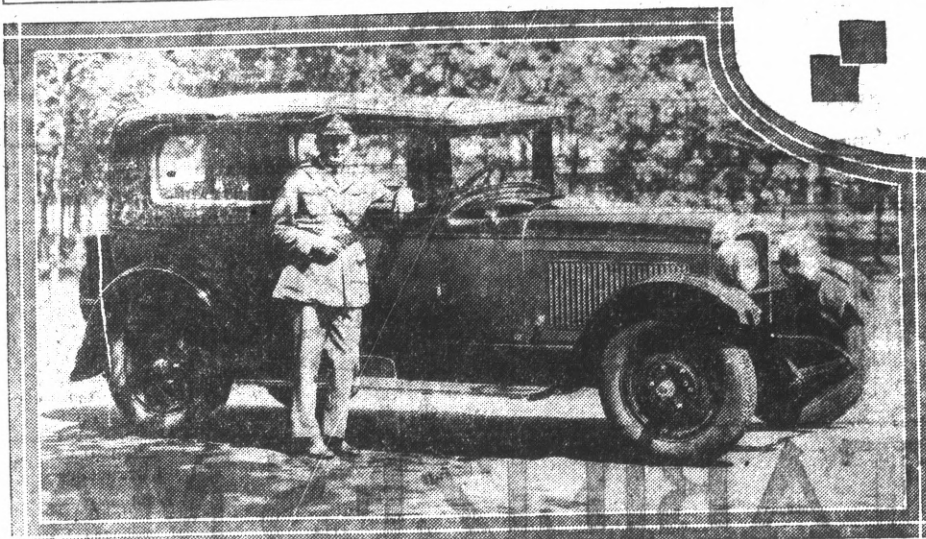

HUMBOLDT COUNTY REGISTRATION

Humboldt county's motor vehicle registration last year totaled 13,240, according to the California State Automobile Association.

DRIVE AT REASONABLE RATE

Making good time on the open highway is a matter of driving consistently at a reasonable speed. The rate should be neither so fast as to be dangerous nor so slow as to kill the pleasure of the trip.

Capt. Gray and His New Nash Sedan

Captain H. C. Gray, holder of the world's altitude record for free balloons and one of the most celebrated balloon racers of the United States army, was a recent visitor to the Nash plant in Kenosha, Wis., where he took delivery of an Advanced Six two-door sedan.

Captain Gray last May broke the altitude record held since 1901 by Germany when he reached a height of 42,670 feet—over eight miles. He plans to make several other ascensions during the next few months and may set still another record for the rest of the world to shoot at.

Elaborate Program Marks Legion Conclave In Paris

(The Universal Service)

PARIS, Sept. 17.—The ninth annual convention of the American Legion will officially convene at the Trocadero, Monday morning. Men with their wives, mothers, sweethearts, families, are here, having arrived on sixteen liners during the past two weeks.

Monday, the first day of the convention will be featured by the big Legion parade during which each ex-doughboy will drop either a red, white or blue flower on the tomb of the unknown soldier.

The parade will start from the monument of George Washington at the Place d'Orléans, and proceed past the monument to the American arch where each veteran will deposit either a red, a white or a blue flower on the tomb of the unknown soldier of France—down the Champs Elysees to the Place de la Concorde, through the Place de la Concorde, and up the Rue Royale to the church of the Madeleine—along the Grande boulevards to the Place de l'Opera, down the Avenue de l'Opera and through the Place du Palais Royal, along the Rue de Rivoli to the Hotel de Ville—across the Pont d'Arcole to disband in the great square before the Notre-Dame cathedral.

The day of the parade, having been declared a national holiday, the streets of Paris will be decorated as for the fourteenth of July, while fireworks at the Pont Neuf and the Pont d'Arcole, and street dancing will feature the evening.

The business program of the ninth annual Legion convention follows:

SUNDAY, September 18th:

3 p. m.—Meeting, National Finance committee. (General Wilder S. Metcalf.)

4 p. m.—Meeting, Delegation chairman and secretaries.

4:30 p. m.—Meeting, Convention committee on credentials.

5 p. m.—Meeting, Convention committee on permanent organization.

5:30 p. m.—Meeting, Convention committee on permanent organization.

The committees, except for the finance committee, which will be presided over by General Wilder S. Metcalf, its chairman, will meet and elect their heads.

MONDAY, September 19:

8:30 a. m.—Music: Monahan Post band, Monahan Post No. 64, Sioux City, Iowa; Ford Dodge Iowa Drum and Bugle Corps, Ford Dodge Post No. 120, selected by judges from Legion posts throughout the United States as the foremost Legion bands.

9 a. m.—Call to order by National Commander Howard P. Savage, invocation by the Rev. L. N. Wolfe, National chaplain. Advancement of the colors. Singing of the "Marseillaise" and "The Star Spangled Banner." Reading call of convention by National Adjutant James B. Barton. Presentation of National colors of the American Legion to the Republic of France. Committee reports: Permanent organization, credentials, rules, Memorial services. "There is no Death," silent prayer. Tapes.

1 p. m.—Legion parade.

TUESDAY, September 20:

8:30 a. m.—Music: Orange band St. Petersburg, Fla.; Racine drum and Bugle Corps, Racine, Wis.

9 a. m.—Call to order by the National commander. Invocation by the National chaplain, advancement of the colors. Report of National Commander Howard P. Savage. Address. Retirement of the colors. Adjournment.

2 p. m.—Convention committee meetings.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21:

River Route To Sacto Reported To Be Excellent

Motorists using the Antioch bridge and the river route to Sacramento will find conditions excellent via the Tunnel road to Elvert and Antioch, and thence across Sherman island to Isleton, reports the California State Automobile Association. The road is paved from Isleton to Walnut Grove, at which point it is necessary to cross the river again, using the road on the east side via Vorden and thence across the river again into Paintersville. This detour is made necessary, reports the association touring bureau, because of construction of a hard surface on the main highway between Paintersville and Walnut Grove. The detour is over dirt and gravel roadbed, somewhat rough.

ITALY HAS AIR MANEUVERS

ROME, Sept. 16.—Northern Italy is in the throes of "constructive" aerial warfare tonight. Two forces composed of more than 500 planes each are battling for the possession of a mythical capital city near the mouth of the Po.

The "Red" against the "Blue" forces are simulating sky battles, wheeling and maneuvering according to strategic formations dictated by the special air ministry, which is separate from the army and navy, and the Italian general headquarters.

This is the first time in Italy an aerial armada of such terrible proportions has been unleashed. Light scouting planes and heavy bombing planes are both used. It is rumored that the new giant Caproni capable of carrying five tons of bombs and a squad of poison gas throwers will also be brought into play.

The maneuvers have all the aspects of reality. A corps of war correspondents is attached to each side. Air attaches of the different countries were invited to attend the spectacle.

Retirement of colors and adjournment.

More than 80 distinguished French and American statesmen, and wartime leaders will be the guests of the Legion when it convenes at the Trocadero.

Brake Safety Stressed As Important Factor For Auto

With the increase of motor travel into the mountains during the vacation season and heavier travel on the boulevards and traffic-congested city streets, the necessity of properly adjusted brakes is of paramount importance, not only for the safety of humanity but as a measure of protection to the automobile.

Efficient, safe brakes, go beyond merely adjustment; it takes with dependable, long wearing brake lining.

If the lining does not grip the revolving wheel drums gently and firmly, danger immediately rises. This is essential in mountain driving when a stop must be made on the hillside; in quickly retarding speed on the highways, and in making a quick stop in traffic.

Years of careful experimentation have brought to a high state of efficiency the Neverburn brake lining, according to E. K. Kelley, local manager of the Western Auto Supply company, sole distributors of the Neverburn products.

"Neverburn brake lining has won a deserved reputation for dependability under the most trying conditions and in defying any tendency to heat, grab or chatter. It wears perfectly smooth yet gives a firm, even grip on the wheel drums. Neverburn is made in two types; one for the wheel drums of all cars and the other type for Ford Transmission bellows.

During this week, the Western Auto Supply company is conducting a lengthy survey of trade conditions on the Pacific Coast which he has just completed.

OLSON PRAISES DREVES

"The importance of the appointment of Louis Dreves as Pacific Coast sales supervisor cannot be overestimated," said George Olson, Oakland-Pontiac dealer for Richmond yesterday, in commenting on the recently announced innovation.

"In this way there will be a more intimate entente cordiale between the Eastern factory and the west which has greeted the new Oakland model with an enthusiasm which bids well for its continued success. Dreves knows his territory, and he holds the confidence of the men with whom he will come in contact."

Lord Derby Says Title Is Actual Hinderance

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Attempts of the Baldwin government to reform the English House of Lords have stirred up all manner of discussion and debate over the British Peerage.

The reflections which have been cast upon members of the upper house of the great British legislative body of Parliament have at last aroused Lord Derby to the public expression of his opinion that a title is a real, and serious hindrance to a Briton. Speaking at Southampton recently Earl of Derby said:

"I think it might be of the greatest possible advantage if we could have the Second Chambermen as life peers who have distinguished themselves in many walks of life. Such peerages should not be handed on to their sons, to whom they might be a great hindrance. I think there are many ways in which to hold a title is a distinct detriment to a man in the fight for life."

Thorough agreement with the views of Lord Derby was expressed by Lord Gorell. He explained: "There are two ways in which a title may be a great disadvantage to a man. In the first place it involves him in much increased expense. Wherever a person with a title goes he is charged more. I do not mean a case of fixed prices in a shop but wherever prices are a matter of arrangement, such as in hotels and similar matters. People seem to imagine that the possession of a title means that a person is well to do, whereas very often he is worse off as a result of it."

"In the second place it is not at all easy for a person with a title to be taken seriously. In my own instance I have practiced the profession of an author for the past twenty years and I find that the public generally and my friends are inclined to regard my work as purely as being a hobby. They do not regard it in quite the same way as if it were written by a person without a title. I remember having a book of mine described as being the work of an amateur although the reviewer had worked in the same newspaper office as myself twelve years before."

TIRED, ACHING FEET

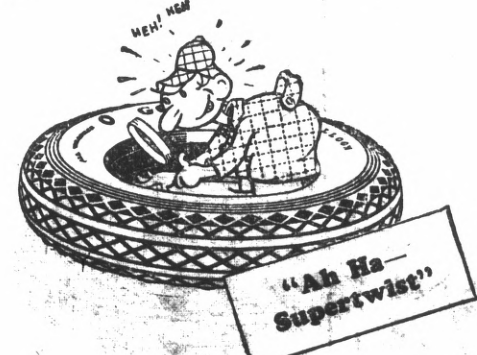

THE minute you put your feet in a "Tiz" bath you feel pain being drawn out and comfort just soaking in. How good your tired, swollen, burning feet feel. "Tiz" draws out the poisons that cause tender, aching feet.

"Tiz" takes all the soreness out of corns and calluses. Get a box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store for a few cents.

End foot torture forever—wear smaller shoes, keep your feet fresh, sweet and comfortable.

A Carcass... that is trouble-proof

A carcass of Supertwist Cord explains the astonishing ability of Goodyear's NEW All-Weather Balloon to absorb punishment.

Supertwist S-T-R-E-T-C-H-E-S! It is just as strong as old style cords. But it stretches farther before it breaks—stretches and recovers like a rubber band. Blows that would break a carcass composed of less flexible cord do not affect Supertwist.

And no other tire has Supertwist. It is patented—an exclusive Goodyear achievement.

Here is the culmination of Goodyear's research for more than 25 years—a trouble-proof carcass. Stop in and let us show you this new tire.

STAMINA SEEN IN LONG TRIP TAKEN BY NASH

The story of a cross-country jaunt was brought to the bay district this week by Walter G. Swasey, resident of both San Francisco and New York city, who since July 17 has covered a total of 4500 miles in his Nash touring car, according to H. Huddleston, Inc., local dealers.

In telling his story to Ted O'Day, retail sales manager of the Pacific Nash Motor company, he was enthusiastic over the performance of his Nash car throughout a most grueling experience that tested the automobile. Oil was changed but four times and no work any description was done on the car throughout the long trip, notwithstanding the varying climatic conditions and differing altitudes.

Starting out from New York city, Swasey first went to Atlantic City, then back to Philadelphia and thence to Lackawanna trail through the coal region of Scranton to Buffalo. At Buffalo he crossed over the new international bridge connecting the United States with Canada, visiting at both Ontario and Windsor.

He re-entered the United States at Detroit, passing through Central Michigan to Chicago. Visits were made to St. Paul and Minneapolis, and then the long trial was taken across the plains to Fargo, North Dakota, Montana and Yellowstone National Park.

Wasey entered the Yellowstone by way of the Gardner entrance and passed out through the west portal, going to Pocatello, Idaho, Boise and into Oregon to Portland. The last lap of the trip was made over the Redwood highway down the coast to San Francisco.

Transcontinental touring is still fraught with many problems, according to Swasey.

NEW CATALOGUE ISSUED

The third edition of the Western Auto Supply company catalogue has been issued and can be had at the Western Auto stores. The book comprises 128 pages and contains an index at the end for the convenience of the buyer.

The local branch of the company has received the first samples of the new line of auto top dressing made by the J. C. Haartz company of New Haven, Conn. The line is nationally advertised, and is available here in quart and pint sizes.

TWO LANDAU DELIVERED

Two of the Chevrolet landau models and a coupe, and a coach were delivered by the Harry G. Golden company last week. The landau has proved increasingly popular since the recent price drop.

The reboring machine recently installed in the Golden shop has been used extensively during the last week. The machine hones each cylinder to the right size and polishes it in five minutes.

HUP SEDANS POPULAR

Two Hupmobile six cylinder sedans were delivered by the W. J. La Franz Motor company last week. A "six" roadster was delivered to William Brown of 31 Water street, Point Richmond. The company says that the public has received the eight cylinder models with interest, and that sales of this model will pick up in the next month.

NEW SHOP EQUIPPED

The Houtane-McQuone motor company, new Willys-Knight dealers here, have equipped their shop with everything necessary for Willys-Knight and Whippet repairing and servicing. Frank Harold, who has had extensive experience with Willys-Knight automobiles, will have charge of the shop. Visitors to the showrooms of the company have admired the Willys-Knight great six foursome on display last week. John Odio of 110 South Seventeenth street took delivery on a 70 Willys-Knight sedan.

BUICK HOLDS RECORD

C. C. Kratzer, local Buick dealer, announces that during the month of August 38 new Buicks were sold and registered in Contra Costa county, making what is believed to be the sales record for the month for any make of car in the county. The sales averaged more than one car each day.

Three carloads of the new Buicks arrived from Flint, Michigan factory last week and are now at the local salesrooms. Among the striking models, is the sport roadster finished in green and trimmed in black. The car can be bought with bumpers specially made for it.

OLSON DELIVERS COUPE

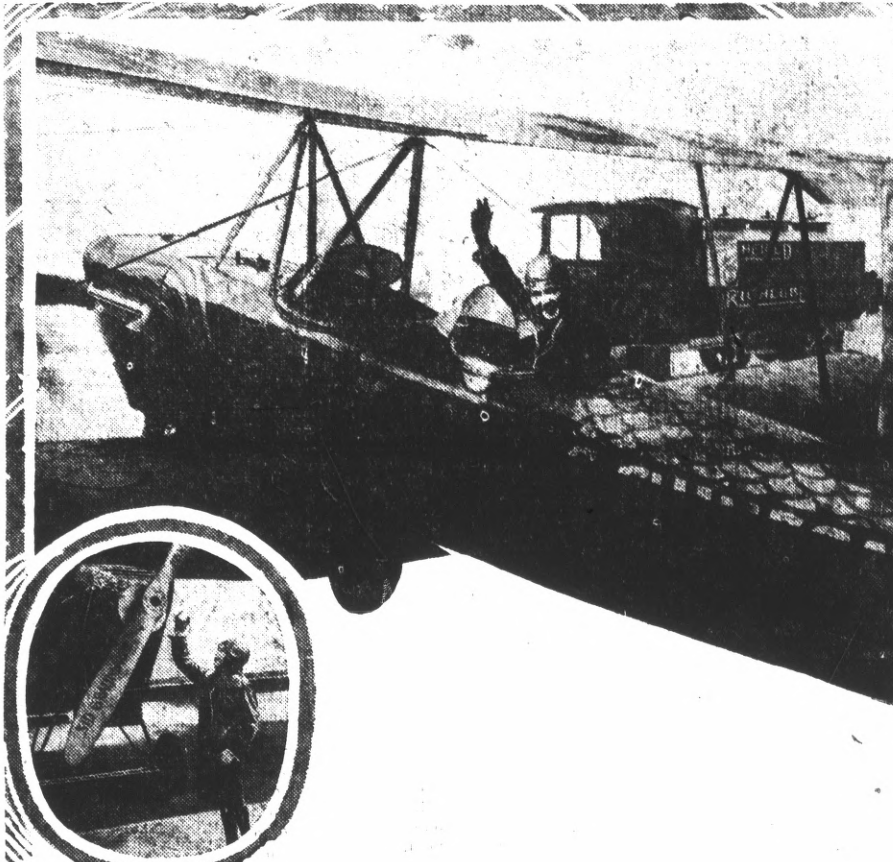

George Olson, local Pontiac dealer, delivered a Pontiac coupe to C. R. Wright last week. Olson is expecting another shipment of the Oakland "All American Six" during the next week. The cars are being sold throughout the country at such a rate that the factory production cannot keep up with the demand.

BAD LUCK FOR RACER

John La Torraca, local driver of the Speedway garage, was eliminated from the races in San Jose, Sunday, September 11, when both the small gear and the master gear of the differential were broken ten minutes before the race. La Torraca was unable to obtain the master gear and had to give up a good chance to win at least one of the events.

He now is installing another Winfield carburetor in his car, making one carburetor for each two cylinders. In addition a new and heavier flywheel has been put in the car. La Torraca says

Airplane Christened With Milk

CHRISTENED with milk and then weaned to a strict diet of Richfield gasoline—that's what Sid Grauman's new Chinese airplane feeds on now, and it's perfectly contented.

Richfield Gas Is Favored By Theatre Head

Determined that his infant should receive the proper diet, Sid Grauman had the new Grauman Chinese airplane christened with milk and then gave strict instructions that it should be fed regularly with Richfield gasoline and Richfield motor oil.

The plane, which was christened by Mary Pickford, is the latest model Eaglehawk type, and was built to order, and painted to resemble a gigantic Chinese dragon. It is being used for daily aerial excursions to cities and towns of the Southland, carrying Wing Kwong Tse, famous oriental lecturer engaged to tell the residents all about Sid Grauman's Chinese theatre.

In selecting Richfield for his plane, Grauman based his choice on the reputation which the famous gasoline of power has established on the speedway, in the air and over the water course.

The rise of the Richfield company from a small and obscure concern to the third largest oil company in point of sales in less than 10 years can be definitely traced to its demonstration of quality in racing competition.

For seven consecutive years, Richfield has been the winner at the famous racing event—the Indianapolis classic. Year after year it has piled up victories in racing events as well as in time and endurance trials.

When Harry Hartz drove a stock Studebaker 5000 miles in 4909 minutes at the Culver City Speedway on April 4 he was using Richfield gasoline and Richfield motor oil, the same combination that carried him to the 1925 racing championship.

Richfield was in the tank of the stock Hudson driven by Barney Oldfield which covered 1000 miles at 76 miles per hour on May 21, the fastest time ever made by any strictly stock car. It furnished the power which sent Ross McPhee across the finish line first in the Avalon to Balboa race for outboard motors on June 4, the first ocean race for this type of craft.

BUICK SALES IN LAST MONTH IN HUGE INCREASE

With 1178 new cars registered in Northern California during August Buick outsold every other make of car, regardless of price or class, according to figures which have just been released by "Motor Registration News," the official statistical publication of the automotive trade.

"The registration figures best tell the story of the public's liking for the new Buick," said C. C. Kratzer, Buick dealer here. "The Buick for 1928 is the most popular Buick yet produced and its record holds is strengthening each day as more and more cars go into service in the hands of owners."

"While the Buick leads all other cars in sales by a wide margin, the total would have been greater had shipments been fast enough to keep up with the orders. Although more provisions than ever were made for the sales rush, the reserve supply was exhausted in the first few days. However, shipments are now rolling westward in increased numbers as the factory is doing everything possible to get cars to the owners as rapidly as possible."

Legionnaires In Paris Get Plaudits Of French Nation

By WILLIAM HILLMAN (Universal Service Staff)

PARIS, Sept. 16.—General John J. Pershing, commander of the original A. E. F., and National Commander Howard Savage of the American Legion tonight established headquarters of the second A. E. F. in the heart of Paris, brilliant with thousands of lights and festooned and decorated everywhere with the stars and stripes. The daring American adventure to relieve the poignant moments of a decade ago. Though the holding of the legion convention is the motive inspiring the 15,000 veterans arriving tomorrow—beginning today amidst scenes recalling the exaltation and enthusiasm of 1917.

Tears, flowers and cheers from statesmen, soldiers, men, women and children greeted the official delegation to the Paris convention as it landed on French soil and made its way through the farm land cities of Normandy to the French capital.

Greeting General Pershing upon his arrival at the Gare Des Invalides, Paul Painleve, French Minister of War, said: "Neither time nor the fleeting that he has all intentions of winning the race at Los Banos, October 11."

difficulties which life almost inevitably causes to arise between two great nations can impair the recollections which we keep of those doughty young men who came from overseas to die on the hills of the Meuse or on the plains of Champagne and Picardy. "The French government wished that on your arrival the Minister whose mission it was to welcome you as soldiers, the time of battles should say to you the word in which is embodied all grateful thoughts of the French—Merci." General Pershing's soldierly face was grim with emotion as he replied to the greeting. He said: "We are touched by the warm reception. Ten years ago we came to France under different circumstances, rushing to fight for humanity. Today we come on a pious pilgrimage."

Then, through the lines of guards and soldiers at salute and French veterans with battle-torn standards, General Pershing and Commander Painleve, escorted by Minister Painleve, Marshal Petain and General Gouraud and Paul, left the station and went to the Arch of Triumph. There in the sombre light of a cloudy sky and fast approaching evening, the Commander-in-Chief of the A. E. F. paid his respects to France's unknown soldier as taps played.

Cut-Off To Felton Still Dangerous

The cut-off route from Camp Evers on the Santa Cruz highway to Felton on the Big Trees road is not recommended for through travel, according to the California State Automobile Association. Construction work is still under way and, though the trip to Mission Springs can be made without difficulty, beyond the detour is steep and narrow and those inexperienced in such driving are advised against using this road beyond the Springs.

A blue gas flame keeps your cooking utensils clean

A perfectly working Gas Range is a delight to use.

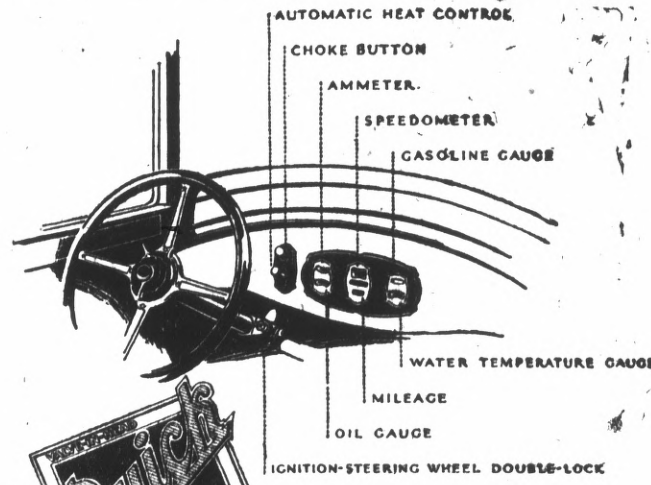

But at times, food boiling over or dust drawn in through the air mixers will carbonize and unless the burners are cleaned these particles will close the holes or ports of the burners. The result is a yellow flame or a "popping" noise when you turn off the gas. This is improper combustion.

The burners of your Gas Range are easily removed and should be cleaned each month to insure perfect combustion and cleanliness. Merely boil the burners in a solution of lye water or caustic soda until they are thoroughly clean.

You'll find it easy to keep your Gas Range as clean as any other piece of furniture in the house. The range will operate perfectly. It will last longer. You'll enjoy its speed, cleanliness and the ease of cooking with Gas—just as thousands of other women are doing today.

State Highway Bridges To Be Widened Soon

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 17.—That an immediate survey of State highway bridges in California is to be made in order to work out a plan for widening them and to determine what ones shall be replaced first, is the announcement made here by B. B. Moss, State director of public works.

"A census" declared Moss, "is no stronger than the census of the State highway system. I believe that all bridges in the State highway system should be at least as wide as the highway. It is absurd to construct a 100-foot highway and to have it connect with fifty-foot bridges. Such things only aggravate the already serious traffic problems."

"Narrow bridges are a positive menace to safe motor travel, particularly for night driving. The abutments of every narrow bridge are scarred up from auto impacts. When a motorist is driving along a reasonably wide highway, particularly at night, it is an easy thing, if the driver is blinded by glaring headlights, to crash into the abutments of a narrow bridge."

Auto Association Adds To Law Staff

Growing membership and increasing use of its legal service has necessitated enlargement by the California State Automobile Association of its legal staff. Four attorneys have been added to the staff, according to announcement today from George E. Sandford, general attorney for the association. Ownership and operation of an automobile carries with it heavier and greater responsibilities and obligations each year, Sandford pointed out, explaining that there is a general tendency on the part of motorists to keep posted on the law's requirements, the rules of traffic and the rights of a driver under the law.

Egypt Eases Penalty For Wife Slayers

(By Universal Service)

CARRO, Aug. 17.—Extreme penalty for the erring women and the greatest leniency for the male who in obedience to the Koran punishes her for her sin, is still the custom in Egypt sanctioned by the Penal Code. Modification of the law has just been proposed to make still lighter the male relative's punishment for avenging a woman's misconduct.

Since the first rise of Islam a woman found guilty of unfaithfulness to her husband is punished by being literally immured. The Koran lays down that woman caught in the act of misconduct should be shut up within their house until death releases them, or God makes some way for them.

A husband is liable to short term imprisonment only for killing his wayward wife, according to Article 201 of the Egyptian Code. It is now proposed to extend this right to a father, son, brother, or uncle.

The measure is urged by a special Commission of Justice, which has just brought in a report recommending that even more lenient punishment should be meted out to the male relative, and little objection was heard. Fear was expressed that if a male relative was allowed to go scot free charges might be trumped up by relatives against innocent women in order to get their share of the inheritance.

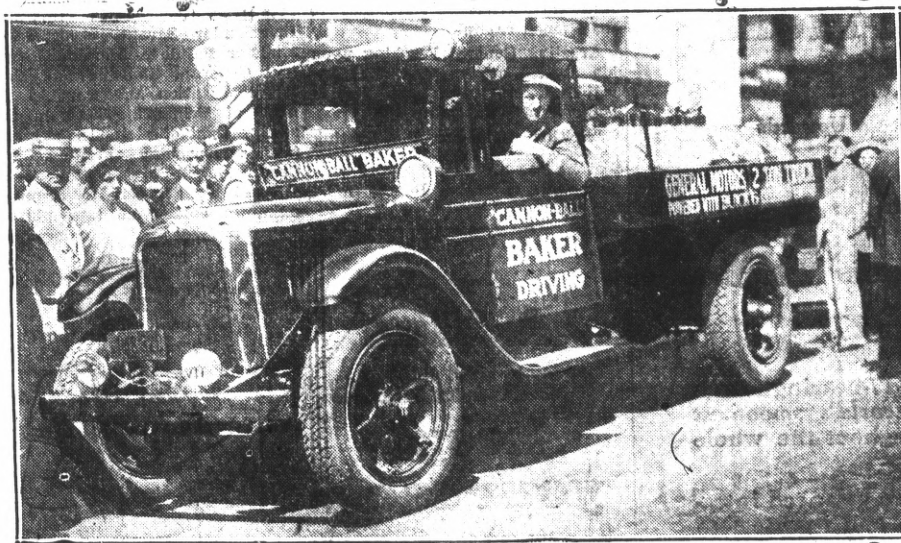

Discussion of the amendment was postponed on a deputy's motion who pointed out that it would greatly affect social life.

Cannon Ball Shatters Record

CANNONBALL BAKER Tuesday completed his eightieth transcontinental trip—this time at the wheel of a G. M. C. two-ton truck. He celebrated this event by scoring a new transcontinental record for trucks, the time being 137 hours, 36 minutes. One interesting feature of the run was the high speed maintained by the truck on the journey over a measured distance of 50 3-10 miles in one hour's time. The veteran driver only had four hours of sleep on the entire trip. The truck was stuck in every particular, being a standard two-ton job powered with a Buick motor and carrying a three-ton shifting load of Atlantic sea water which was formerly emptied into the Pacific ocean at the beach yesterday following the official reception accorded the record-breaking crew at the City Hall.

Traffic Deaths In Los Angeles Show Big Gain

The city of Los Angeles had an increase of 28.7 per cent in number of automobile fatalities for the first six months of 1927 according to the statistical bureau of the National Automobile club.

The most satisfactory record of any large city in the country was that of St. Louis, based on a comparison of this year with the same period in 1926, while the largest rate of increase was in Milwaukee.

The largest number of fatalities occurred in Chicago, where 381 deaths are recorded for the first six months of the year.

High Praise Is Given To New 1928 Peerless Model

When the 1928 Peerless models were introduced, there are a few who "told the world" that Peerless had again scored a triumph in fine-car manufacture.

Harry Semar, local dealer of the company with display rooms at 255 Sixteenth street, is high in his praise of the new models. "Without sacrificing any beauty, the bodies are lower. The upholstery is new in materials and construction the same. The coverings are a new silky fabric known as 'kapok,' a substance that is twenty times as buoyant as cotton. None of our other American cars using 'kapok' for upholstery. New, striking color combinations with contrasting reveals strike a colorful note in the 1928 models."

"A new feature of the Six-80 is semi-automatic ignition with the old spark lever replaced with a similar lever which controls the lights. The spark control which is seldom used is placed on the dash."

"The new '60' model which has sprung into such tremendous publicity since its announcement last April, has new upholstered rope toggles in the closed models, and carpet replaces rubber on the floor of the front compartments. New door handles and windows lifts, and new bumpers, are included in this year's improvements. Color combinations of the '60' are Killarney gray, Ohio blue and Pine Grove green. All are Duotone lacquer and have window reveals of contrasting shade."

"Peerless dealers all over the country are seeing the advantage of handling a line that sells in all price classes and is built with the same engineering and manufacturing ideals. There are a few who 'told the world' that Peerless had again scored a triumph in fine-car manufacture."

Oiling On Truckee Road Is Finished

The oiling of one and one-half miles near Crystal Lake on the Ashcroft-Truckee road has just been completed and the road is now in excellent shape in that section, according to the touring department of the National Automobile Club. From the Donner lake summit to Donner lake the road is at present being oiled, and will be completed in the near future.

The California Highway Commission is using what is known as the "mixing method" on the Donner lake road, in this system the oil is mixed with gravel so that travel is not affected as is when fresh oil alone is used.

Importance of Good Piston Rings

When you consider the work they do, the wonder is that piston rings last so long. But when they become worn, it is a matter of choosing to suffer the attending evils or pay for a new set and stop wasting oil, fouling spark plugs, loss of power, dilution of oil in the crankcase, excessive wear on cylinders, excessive carbon, thumps, knocks and the approach of a husky repair bill. Those who never drive over fifteen or twenty miles an hour can go longer, but the average car owner would save money and annoyance if he would install new rings every ten or fifteen thousand miles.

Paralytic Stroke Quickly Relieved
Berkeley, Calif., Aug. 21, 1927.
To Whom It May Concern:
For the benefit of other people and as a recommendation for Fong Wan, I frankly say that the Fong Wan Herbs have relieved my right arm which was paralyzed. For about two months, I could not move that arm at all. Although I tried medical doctors and a chiropractic, my condition remained the same.

Acting upon the advice of a friend I tried the Fong Wan Chinese Herbs. After the first four days, I could raise my arm, and at the end of two weeks, my recovery was complete. The Fong Wan Herbs are nice, clean and fragrant. They are wonderfully compounded and put up in neat packages. I took them at home. For such marvelous and speedy relief, I am glad to give this testimonial.

SPANKING THE NEWSPAPER

Silas Bent, in Harper's condemns the newspaper which "startles, thrills and entertains" rather than information concerning science, history, and politics.

That is because they are newspapers and not Harper's. The newspapers are human institutions appearing daily for the purpose of relating to human beings the news concerning the affairs in which human beings are interested. Individually a good many human beings rail—like Mr. Bent—at the newspapers of today. Collectively they won't read any other kind. Publishers who have thought they would, rest with the Dodo bird.

And the human taste for that which startles and thrills is not ready new enough to be a dreadful fruit of the modern newspaper. The oldest best known and most revered book in the world recites the stories of the Creation, the Flood, the Drunkenness of Noah, The Plague the Death of Absalom, the Thousand Wives of Solomon, the Miracles, the Adventures of St. Paul.

Literature, other than scientific and economic literature, is founded upon sensation—"Paradise Lost," "The Inferno," "Hamlet," the highly esteemed writings of Homer and Cicero and the Greeks.

Twelve laborers are at work on the Tower of Pisa at present, and maybe by this time it may have developed a mechanic's lean.—New York World.

With the commitments to Sing Sing for July and August of 1927 exceeding those of 1926 one gets the idea that neither prohibition nor the Baumes law is closing our prisons quite as rapidly as we were told they would.

These long distance aviators who do so much hopping off learned their lessons of flight from the birds and might now study hopping as hopped by the grasshopper. When the grasshopper hops he hops to where he started for.

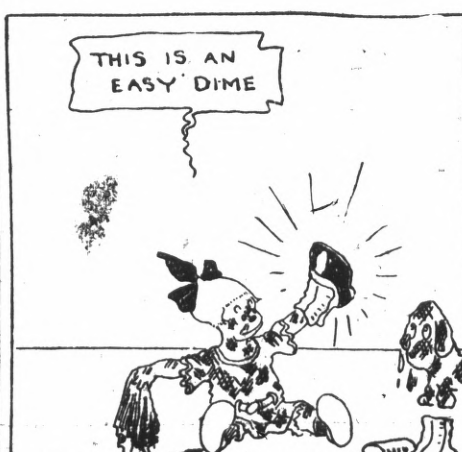

Al Smith may not be strong enough to win the democratic nomination, but it seems plain enough that if he doesn't he will retain sufficient strength to knock down the democratic temple.

Now that all the oceans are being crossed by airplanes, do you ever stop to wonder what became of that "rotor ship" that was going to revolutionize sailing?

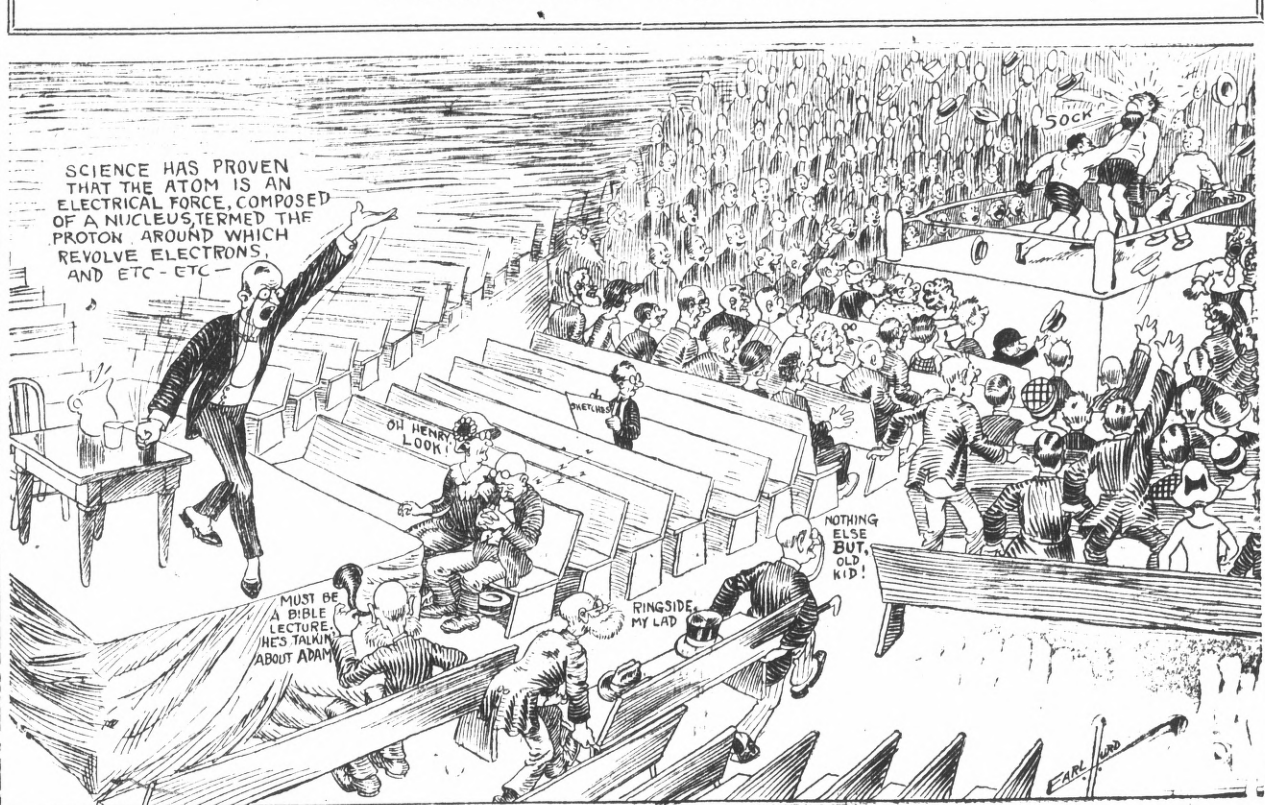

It is almost as difficult to hide a cough as it is to hide love.

Many a man thinks he has an open mind when it merely is vacant.—Peoria Star.

RESULTS COUNT!

The boy with the wallop attracts the crowds while the table pounder talks to empty seats.

PRIZE FIGHTING is a brutal sport.

The "good" fighter is a man with the smallest amount of human feeling in his breast when he is in the ring.

He must possess what is called the killer instinct.

He must batter a helpless foe into complete submission, until there is not a flicker of consciousness left in a bleeding hulk of humanity.

Yet such is the lure of the prize ring that hundreds of thousands of men and women gladly pay large sums of money for the privilege of witnessing championship bouts.

Amounts that run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars are handed out to boxers whose intelligence sometimes rates but little above that of an ordinarily bright child of 10 or 12.

In the meantime, the world's greatest thinker might find it hard to earn a bare living.

A man with a great invention might be starving to death in a garret.

A great artist might be walking the streets with no one to pay any attention to works of immortal beauty.

You would think that in this "civilized" land there would be more interest in knocking out poverty and disease than there is in knocking out a brawny brute of a man.

You would think that people would be more ready to spend $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 for flooring dirty politics than for seeing a bruiser toppled off his feet.

But people are found who are eager to pay for the privilege of seeing one brute sock another.

YOUR MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

By Patricia Lee

There is nothing new, and nothing especially free, about this so-called Free Love. It is as old as the world and often it spells slavery, not liberty. Much of it is based on half-truths, the disagreeable half being glossed over or ignored. Vera picked out facts which she wished to believe and excluded those equally important facts which interfered with her inclinations. And now:

Says the WOMAN
Dear Patricia Lee:
I am very modern, very progressive even to the point of believing in free love. To me, it seems stupid to marry and stay married. The young man, I loved shared my views, we took an apartment together, and have been very happy. We didn't intend to have children and we didn't want any. But now we have a lovely baby boy. This complicates matters considerably. Here I am without a job and taking care of a child, alone household drudgery and all of the things I swore I wouldn't. I feel sometimes that I could chuck the whole thing, but I love my baby and his father.

The father wants to marry me now, his whole attitude toward the marriage question has changed and on the other hand, I think it stupid to be so inconsistent. Yet, I must admit that the position in which I find myself is not wholly pleasant.

VERA.

Are you sure that you are not the inconsistent one, Vera? Your letter, which was too long to print in its entirety, is full of conflicting theories, beliefs, personal opinions, rather than facts. Why do you consider Free Love so thoroughly modern? Read history and you will see that as the world has progressed there is more freedom as to choice, but less freedom in the sense you mean. Of course, in olden times it was the man rather than the woman who had the privilege of deciding when and where marriage should be taken up and left off—and in many instances even went so far as to acquire a hundred wives or so. In turning your back on marriage you are not being modern at all; you are placing the chains of slavery upon yourself—and upon your baby. My advice to you is to marry the father of your child, and be thankful that he has seen the light. Here is one thing which advocates of free love never seem to consider—that there may be children who prefer legitimacy and a normal home life, and who may not share their parents' view.

Says the MAN
Dear Patricia Lee:
I have been married twenty years, and it seems that my real troubles are just beginning. For the last six months or more my wife has been so cranky that I can hardly live with her. She is selfish and mercenary, and she takes no pride in our home or in her personal appearance. She is always complaining. In addition to this I have other troubles even more serious. About a year ago, through sheer desperation for congenial companionship, I became friendly with a woman who lives near us. She is a married woman, and has been living with her husband all the while, but now she tells me that she is expecting a baby and claims that I am its father. I am almost desperate, as I seem to be the victim of circumstances all the way round.

What shall I do? PHILIP.

In the first place, Philip, it isn't very becoming to offer as an excuse for your own wrong doing this sudden crankiness on the part of your wife. I feel sure that after twenty years of married life she has not suddenly acquired a bad disposition without some cause. Because you are upset over your wrong it is hardly fair to find fault with your wife. So, let's leave her out of it. Your other trouble must be handled with delicacy and tact. Have a talk with this woman and find out what she expects you to do under the circumstances. In my opinion she should expect nothing, as she is as much to blame as you. Of course, you should be sympathetic and willing to do anything within reason, to make amends, but you should allow her also that the happiness of two innocent people depends entirely upon her attitude. And why calumnize yourself, Philip?

THE FIRST AUTO, with Barney Oldfield and Patsy Ruth Miller is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

It is the year 1896; Bob, son of Frank Armstrong, a horse fancier, knowing his father's hatred of machines, is secretly inventing automobile engines and openly courting Rose Robbins. He has a rival in Steve Bentley, and the two men quarrel constantly over the girl. Hank discovers his son's mechanical drawings and the beginning of an open break between the two ensues. Several years later finds Bob, without his father's knowledge, repairing engines in the village smithy's shop. Hank, in his growing enmity towards automobiles, challenges the owner of a car to a race and pits Bright Eyes, his mare, against the machine.

"And as for you, Joe Saunders," began Hank, "I'm sorry to see you squander your money on such a toy when good horses can be bought for one-third the price."

Saunders' chin whiskers wiggled up and down, contemptively, and then he spat.

"But a horse can't do what an auto kin, Hank. Tain't got the strength or speed." Saunders paused.

"Do you really believe that?" Hank asked sarcastically.

Saunders nodded laconically.

"Listen, Saunders," Hank went on, unconsciously of a little group gathering in the doorway, attracted by his loud tone of voice.

"I have a mare that can cover your kerosene buggy in a mountain of dust from her heels."

Saunders smiled and shook his head. The group in the doorway edged closer to the door.

"And I got a hundred dollars in greenbacks that says the same thing."

"You wouldn't try it, Hank," he said, laying his hand on his friend's arm with a slightly worried expression on his face. "It's asking too much of a horse."

"Aw, quit your kiddin'," laughed Hank.

"Saunders can't never beat Hank," broke in Dave, edging forward. "No machine kin go that fast."

The Mayor looked quickly at Dave and then at Hank. He saw no chance of dissuading the horseman from his purpose, and he turned away in the direction of Rose and Bob, who were now discussing the possible outcome of the race. To their minds the result was inevitable. With their belief in the new invention the horse stood not one iota of chance. And it was the realization of this fact that brought a worried look to Bob's face.

By this time Saunders had his car cranked and it was nervously vibrating, as though anxious to be on its way.

He took his place at the steering wheel, his whiskers bobbing excitedly. The Mayor, noting that the pair were ready to start turned from his daughter and took his place between the two vehicles.

But as the crowd saw the automobile, the Mayor summarized the already-made agreement. "Where I am standing now is the finish."

He raised his handkerchief, counted three, and dropped the improvised flag.

With a cluck to the mare Hank started forward, while Saunders was shifting his gears, and it was not until horse and driver were midway to the quarter post that the machine began to gather speed.

But as the crowd saw the automobile making headway it began cheering. Hank drove easily, as he always did through the first part of a race. Once he glanced back as he heard the auto gaining upon him, but he only laughed and turned to the track again.

But Saunders was stepping on the gas now, and the car's speed was increasing perceptibly. Only the chugging of the pulling motor mingled with the thudding hoofs of the horse, broke the stillness of the clear, morning air. The onlookers hung intense, over the fence. Slowly the auto gained and just before the first turn the roar of the engine became so loud that Hank turned in alarm as it pulled abreast of his sulky. And in another moment it was throwing dust and smoke into the eyes of the spectators.

Hank leaned forward and spoke to Bright Eyes. The horse quickened her stride. Round the turn the two contestants sped, Saunders having the advantage of the inside position. And now Hank whispered again to his horse as they approached the second turn. But as the crowd marked the speed of the onrushing auto and saw Hank leaning out the mare, it began yelling, each for his favorite. All that is, but Bob and Rose and the Mayor. Not one of the three could speak. Torn between a selfish desire to see their belief in the automobile confirmed, and their unwillingness to see so loud of one they all loved shattered, hope and despair waged conflict in their hearts.
